

A STORY BEHIND THE NAME:

The name "Earth to Sky" speaks to more than just our natural roots in the province of British Columbia - to us, Earth to Sky represents the duality and abundant possibility of the cannabis plant. We seek to meet the diverse needs of the Canadian cannabis consumer by helping them find their personal cloud nine, whether in the grounded tranquility of Indica-Dominant products ("Earth"), the expansive euphoria of Sativa-Dominant products ("Sky"), or the many possibilities that lie in between - as we see it, the Hybrid balance of "Earth to Sky."

EARTH TO SKY LOGO

The Earth to Sky logo utilizes the theme of constellations provising a subtle cannabis leaf. Subtle approach of the brand enables flexibility for various uses with a broad customer base.

PRIMARY TARGET AUDIENCE

Robin the Nature Lover, 31

Robin is a social media influencer who spends most of his time outdoors. He livestreams hikes, rock climbing adventures, and loves to spend hours taking picturesque landscape shots of BC's beautiful wilderness. Robin consumes 4-5 times per week, especially before heading into the great outdoors. To Robin, cannabis forms a core component of his yoga practice and helps him take stock of the present moment. He values being able to direct his experience and doesn't like the sense of being unprepared for or poorly educated about the product he's consuming. Robin is passionate about environmental and drug-reform activism, and wants to respect the long struggle it took to allow him to consume cannabis freely in public.

Robin Needs:

- Access to products that support the local economy so he can feel good about what he's purchasing.
- Ample information about the product he's consuming so he can finetune his experience to suit the mood and activity.
- Informative content to keep him engaged. He's especially interested in the stories and history surrounding BC Bud.

Robin is frustrated by:

- Products and brand stories that are too corporate and/ or don't respect the history of cannabis prohibition or honour its connection to the natural world.
- A lack of information. On top of the experience he can expect, Robin wants to be able to peruse terpene contents, cannabinoid contents, and genetic lineage to really dial in his experience.
