I am one of the odd ones out and support this. I think it's wonderful space is limited to spread out now so time to build up like larger cities in the lower mainland/Fraser valley. Prince George is growing and this housing will get many families out of cramped places and away from awful landlords/living conditions. It's green space that's full of garbage and a good hiding spot for people to get up to no good. Best to put it to good use and provide much needed housing. If people want green space drive five minutes outside of town.
