The folks in my neighbourhood who are against this project are "othering" the women and children who need this important and caring service. The talk of not wanting "them" in our neighbourhood and the assumptions that "they" will bring drugs, alcohol, and violence to our neighbourhood is utter nonsense.

"They" are already part of our community. So the real question is do we want these people in our community with the help and support vulnerable people deserve from a caring and compassionate community or do we want them in our community without help and support. Either way "they" are already here.

Look forward to seeing our city move forward with this project.
